What IMT Can Do For Your Community

During an incident, you may find yourself overwhelmed by the massive responsibilities of effectively and safely managing an emergency scene. Illinois IMT can help. We are comprised of approximately 70 members of law enforcement, fire and emergency management from communities throughout the state. We are trained to perform the various positions in the Incident Command System structure. Illinois IMT is self-sufficient with our own supplies and equipment. We report to you. IMT can provide crucial assistance by:

- Providing a team made up of different emergency disciplines that looks at your situation from an “All Hazard” point-of-view
- Providing a team with expertise to assist in managing the incident
- Performing specific staff and command functions for which you need assistance
- Aiding in the development of your Incident Action Plan (IAP)

IMT can assist with:

- Natural disasters
- Terrorist incidents
- Train derailments, aircraft incidents, large/complex accidents
- Public or civil unrest, both spontaneous and planned
- Public event requiring joint participation of two or more agencies or jurisdictions
- Event that requires the coordination of on-scene operations
- Event that requires management and coordination of efforts
- Event that needs procedures for assigned functional areas

\ If IEMA approves deployment of the IMT, the state provides workers compensation coverage for team members. The requesting agency is responsible for deployment costs. Any possible reimbursement by the state is dependent upon a gubernatorial or a presidential disaster declaration. Even with a declaration, reimbursement is not guaranteed.*
